

Resignation of CEO from Breast Cancer Haven

Diana Dyer Bartlett, Chairman of the Trustees of Breast Cancer Haven, announced today that Susan Dark, CEO of the charity, has decided to leave the organisation and resigned with immediate effect from 19 October 2009.

Diana said: "I would like to thank Susan for her commitment and tireless work on Breast Cancer Haven's behalf since she was appointed. Susan has demonstrated her commitment to the work and aims of Breast Cancer Haven and achieved a great deal during her time with us. In particular she has helped Breast Cancer Haven to improve and strengthen its financial position. I wish Susan well in her endeavours."
